

Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2011/06/07 : CIA-RDP87T00623R000300130020-9

Page Denied

9 April 1982

DCI SECURITY COMMITTEE
SECURITY AWARENESS WORKING GROUP

Accomplishments (1978-1982):

1. The publication of SECOM-D-543, Jul 1979: "Minimum Standards for Security Awareness Programs in the U.S. Intelligence Community".

2. The establishment of a catalog of security awareness audio visuals that are available within the Intelligence Community (this has been continually updated).

STAT

3. The creation of an Executive Briefing, a slide/tape presentation packaged for and provided to all SECOM member agencies, designed to be given to senior personnel to indoctrinate them about the perishable quality of SCI and the attendant, unique security precautions necessary to protect it.

4. The establishment and maintenance of a listing of audio visual materials that are available specifically for contractor use.

STAT

5. The authorization of a [] budget, the disbursement of which will be primarily to contract for commercially prepared security awareness videotapes. The following are already in the works: "The Foreign Intelligence Threat" and "Computer Security". The FBI is to be the contracting agency for the former videotape and NSA for the latter.

6. Preparation for the publication, probably under contract, of a workbook for SECOM member agencies and contractors illustrating how to implement SECOM-D-543 (Item 1. above) with specific examples.

7. Coordination with NASA on the preparation of a comprehensive security awareness program designed to protect the classified and compartmented aspects of the Space Shuttle missions.

8. The upgrading of the visibility of the security awareness program within the whole security program in the Intelligence Community. This has demonstrated the need for its separateness but simultaneously illustrated its integral involvement within the IC security effort. Concomitantly, the atmosphere of cooperation fostered by the give and take of discussions and exchange of information during SAWG meetings and projects has proven beneficial to the entire IC in general and SECOM member security offices in particular.